From the Leiden Gazette, dated May 18.

Warsaw, April 28.

KING Augustus has written a Letter to the Primate of the Kingdom, dated from Dresden the 18th of this Month, in Answer to one that he had received from the Primate; in which his Majesty assures him, that though the Interests of his own Hereditary Countries indispensably required his Presence during the Congress at Brunswick, he proposed however to return in a short time to Poland, and had actually caused the necessary Dispositions to be made for that End. His Majesty adds, that having nothing more at Heart than the re-establishment of the publick Tranquillity, he was thinking of Means to withdraw his Auxiliary Troops out of the Kingdom, so as that he might not be obliged to call them into it again, to the burthening of a free Nation, without an indispensable Necessity should oblige him to it. That in the mean while, as the Kingdom is still between Hope and Fear, on Account of the frequent Changes and the Inconstancy of the Ottoman Porte, his Majesty left it to every one to consider, whether in so dangerous a Conjunction, the Troops might safely be dismissed, which had been brought into and to this time maintained in the Kingdom at the Charge of the Republick.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated May 18.

Dresden, May 8. The Ministers of the Protestant States of the Empire, assembled at Azburg, have had divers Conferences upon the Affairs of Religion; and those residing at the Imperial Court, have intimated to the Emperour's Ministers, as they have had Opportunity, their just Fears touching the Article of the Treaty of Rastat which relates to this Matter: But 'tis asserted, that his Imperial Majesty designs to maintain all the States and Subjects of the Empire in the Enjoyment of their Rights and Privileges, conformably to the Capitulation made at his Election and Coronation.

Hague, May 18. Baron Heem, the Emperour's Minister, having received Orders from the Imperial Court, to press the States-General to give their Declaration upon the Treaty which the Emperour offers to make with them touching the Spanish Netherlands; has executed that Order, as well by a Memorial as verbally. On the other Hand, the Earl of Strafford omits nothing to prevent this State's entering into Negotiation therupon with his Imperial Majesty, without the Concurrence of her Britannick Majestie, upon which Subject he held a Conference the 16th Instant with their High Mightynesses Deputies. The Baron de Capres is set out from hence for the Court of France. As he was commissioned to manage in the Congress of Utrecht the Interests of the Flemish Lords in the Service of King Philip, so as to procure the Restitution of their Estates in the Netherlands; as also the Pretensions of the Princess Ursini; he is to go to the Congress at Baden for the same End. The Duke of Savoy has appointed M. de Mellarede to go thither. 'Tis thought at present, that the Peace between Spain and the States-General will be concluded by the Mediation of the King of France, and that the Negotiation of that Peace will be transferred to Versailles; and 'tis said M. Buys has been working this about. After the Conclusion of the Peace at Baden, the Baron de Capres is to return hither, to reside here in the Quality of Ambassador of the King of Spain. The Ministers of the Northern Allies have received the agreeable News from Brunswick, of a Declaration which the King of Prussia has caused to be made by his Minister M. Posatofski to the Ministers of the Czar and of Denmark at the Congress there; Namely, that his Prussian Majesty, notwithstanding the large Offers which have been made to him on the Part of France and of Sweden, will not undertake any thing that may be prejudicial to the Interests of the Northern Allies.
